DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 10 and 11 are objected to because of the following informalities: The phrase “one or two or more terminals” should be “one or more terminals”. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 2-5 and 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nishizaka et al. U.S. Patent 5,742,288. Referring to claims 2 and 5, Nishizaka discloses a model management apparatus for managing a model constituted by a plurality of parts (abstract), comprising: storing means for storing the model (col. 3, lines 5-17); attribute information allotting means for allotting attribute information to the individual parts of the model stored in said storing means (col. 3, lines 15-17); drawing generating means for generating a drawing based on the model stored in said storing means (col. 7, lines 40-48); attribute information extracting means for extracting, from the model, the attribute information of parts related with the drawing generated by said drawing generating means (col. 7, lines 28-48); and attribute information affixing means for affixing the attribute information extracted by said attribute information extracting means to the drawing (col. 7, lines 40-48).

Referring to claims 3 and 4, Nishizaka discloses the model management apparatus according to claim 2, further comprising attribute information modifying means, responsive to a modification of attribute information affixed to the drawing, for modifying corresponding attribute information of the model, and responsive to a modification of certain attribute information of the model, for modifying corresponding attribute information affixed to the drawing (col. 3, lines 5-15). Nishizaka discloses the model management apparatus according to claim 3, further comprising parts list display means for displaying a parts list which is a list of the parts constituting the model (col. 5 and 6, lines 55-67 and 1-2), wherein when display content of the parts list has been modified, said attribute information modifying means modifies corresponding attribute information of the model and the drawing, and when the attribute information of the model or the drawing has been modified, said attribute information modifying means modifies corresponding attribute information of the parts list (col. 15, lines 1-17).

Referring to claims 8 and 9, Nishizaka discloses a model management apparatus for managing a model constituted by a plurality of parts, comprising: storing means for storing the model (col. 3, lines 5-17); relating means for relating any existing alternative part, which is an alternative to a certain part of the model stored in said storing means, with a corresponding part of the model (col. 3, lines 5-29); and selecting means for selecting one of the corresponding part and one or more alternative parts related therewith as a regular part (col. 22, lines 25-42).

Referring to claim 10 and 11, Nishizaka discloses a model management apparatus connected to one or two or more terminals for managing a model input from the terminals, comprising: storing means for storing the model (col. 3, lines 5-17); modification detecting means for detecting a modification made by any one of the terminals with respect to part of the model stored in said storing means (col. 3, lines 5-20); related part identifying means, responsive to detection of the modification by said modification detecting means, for identifying a part related with the modified part (col. 3, lines 5-29); terminal identifying means for identifying a terminal by means of which the part identified by said related part identifying means is revised or modified (col. 10, lines 42-57); and notifying means for notifying the terminal identified by said terminal identifying means that a related part is modified (col. 14, lines 52-67).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1, 6 and 7 are allowed.
